Masonic Infiltration — and Murder

Do the secret societies sometimes use numbers to let each other know that they are behind a certain event. In Issue #3 we discussed the .22-Caliber Killer, Joseph Christopher, who killed 13 people. Another mass murderer of recent years was John Wayne Gacy, killer of 33 people. Thirteen is the number of witches in a Witchcraft coven. Thirty-three is the sacred number of Freemasonry, whose Scottish Rite is set up in 33 degrees. The first American headquarters of the Scottish Rite was set up at Charleston, South Carolina — located on the 33rd parallel of latitude. (See Issue #1 for details concerning the importance of 33.)

According to ex-Grand Druid John Todd, the world of Witchcraft and the Occult is governed by the Council of Thirteen, while Freemasonry is governed by the Council of Thirty-Three. In his book "The Red Fog Over America," Commander William Guy Carr (Royal Canadian Navy) writes: "I had conversations in Europe in 1930 with other well-informed people, some of whom had defected from Grand Orient Freemasonry because they had become aware of its treasonable nature. I was given names of men in various countries who were alleged to be the members of the Council of Thirty-Three. This council is the executive committee of the Grand Orient Lodges of Freemasonry. From these thirty-three men are chosen thirteen members who are the Supreme Council or the Illuminati."

Now, let us look at a case of assassination where the number 33 is prominent. There are several indications that the assassination of President John F. Kennedy was engineered by Masonry. First of all, Dealey Plaza (where the shooting took place) in Dallas is in the form of a triangle. The triangle is one of the most important symbols of Masonry.

Dealey Plaza is also the site of the First Masonic Temple of Dallas. The parallel of latitude to which Dallas is closest is latitude 33. (Some have said that Dallas is on latitude 33, but others have said it is about 15 to 20 miles away.)

Kennedy was shot on November 22, 1963. November is the eleventh month, if you add eleven to the date of the twenty-second, you get 33. Had Kennedy been shot the day before or the day after, these numbers would not work out.

After Kennedy was killed, Lyndon Johnson, a Mason became president. The Warren Commission was headed by Mason Earl Warren. Information was supplied to the commission by Allen Dulles of the CIA, and by J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI. Both were Masons, Hoover having reached the 33rd degree. The theory that Oswald was the lone assassin was propounded by commission member Gerald Ford—a 33rd degree Mason and a Bilderberger. (See "Masonic Assassination" by Michael Hoffman)

A question frequently asked is why did the Secret Service provide such tight security on November 9th when Kennedy visited New York City, and so little on November 22nd when he was in Dallas? Writing in 1933, Lady Queenborough in her book "Occult Theocracy" states: "Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rites runs its own Secret Service which cooperates with the national Secret Service of all countries, thus serving the aims and purposes of Internationalism."

In 1978, John Wayne Gacy was photographed with Rosalyn Carter (wife of President Jimmy). At the time, Gacy was wearing a U.S. Secret Service badge. Now we know why he had a total of 33 victims.

The Secret Service, like the FBI and CIA is controlled by Masonry. Much of this control is through the Knights of Malta. The Maltese Knights are directed by the Order of Zion, not by the Vatican or by the Queen of England. While some have asserted that the Order of Zion is the Jewish branch of the Maltese Knights, there are others who know that it is the other way around (i.e. the Knights are a branch of the Order of Zion.) The Knights of Malta, like the Knights Templar started out as Catholic, but today the real initiates of the Order come up through Masonry. Such so-called Catholic Knights are merely window dressing, as are the Protestant Knights and the Ecumenical Knights.

The Knights of Malta do not serve the Catholic Church, but they do serve the interests of Cabalistic Judaism or Zionism, as do the Jesuits and the Knights of Columbus. Concerning the Knights of Columbus, the Masonic writer William Adrian Brown said: "We who are Masons should understand that this secret society of Knights of Columbus should have our blessing, as it was established by Catholics who were seeking to overthrow the bulls against all secret societies. Ever since Pope Clement's first bull edict, a few Catholics have been trying to overrule the Church. As we know from history, in the period before and during the Middle Ages the Masonic orders were filled with Catholic Brethren. During and after the Civil War there was a fraternity called the Red Knights which was composed of Roman Catholics. In 1882 a Catholic by the name of McGivney wrote three degrees of ritual and had the society incorporated on March 29, 1882...It is surprising to note how much of our early historical Masonry is inculcated in the Knights of Columbus and how closely they have tried to follow the teachings in the Order of the Knights Templar. There are many secrets which are withheld on both sides, but in the written work we find a similarity of Christian ideas. The Catholic Church at the Vatican level does not relish the idea of the secret society of the Knights of Columbus for in it they see the danger of men seeking light or knowledge. However, they are reluctant to break the order, as it might create a greater break within the Church of Rome." (Facts, Fables and Fantasies of Freemasonry) According to ex-Jesuit Alberto Rivera, the Knights of Columbus are controlled by the Jesuits. That the Jesuits are directed by Cabalists, will be proven in a future issue.

What we want to do next is to show the Maltese connection to Masonry — and then the connection of Masonry to Cabalism. The reader will then understand who controls all secret societies including those ostensibly Catholic.

Concerning English Freemasonry, Walton Hannah in his book "Darkness Visible" (1952) writes: "The Order of Knight Templar and of St. John of Jerusalem, Palestine, Rhodes and Malta (this second Order being usually known simply as the Knights of Malta) are controlled by the Great Priory, which operates from Mark Masons' Hall. To be installed as a Knight Templar one must be a Master Mason of at least one year's standing, a member of the Royal Arch, and furthermore, must profess belief in the Holy and Undivided Trinity. The Order of Knights of Malta is open only to Templars."

Writing in 1860, Avery Allyn in his book "Ritual of Masonry," says that in American Masonry, the degrees of Templar and Malta are conferred simultaneously. Allyn says that the 19th degree is that of Templar-Malta. He then quotes the actual words of the initiation oath including these words by the Junior Warden of the Lodge: "A worthy companion, who having taken all the necessary preceding degrees, now solicits the honor of being dubbed and created in this encampment a knight of the valiant and magnanimous Order of Knight Templars, and Knight of Malta, or Order of St. John of Jerusalem."

Since the Knights Templar-Malta are incorporated into Masonry, it will therefore only be necessary to prove that Masonry is under Cabalistic domination. If Masonry is controlled by Cabalistic Jews, then it will follow that since the Maltese Order is part of Masonry, it is also under such control.

So consider the following statements:

1. Rabbi Isaac M. Wise wrote: "Masonry is a Jewish institution whose history, degrees, charges, passwords and explanations are Jewish from beginning to end."
2. Jewish Tribune, New York, October 28, 1927 stated: "Masonry is based on Judaism. Eliminate the teachings of Judaism from the Masonic Ritual and what is left?"
3. The Jewish writer Bernard Lazare in his book "Antisemitism" says: "It is true of course, that there were Jews connected with Free Masonry from its birth, students of the Kabbala...in the years preceding the outbreak of the French Revolution, they entered in greater numbers than ever, into the councils of the secret societies, becoming, indeed, themselves the founders of secret associations. There were Jews in the circle around Weishaupt..."
4. The Verite-Israelite of 1860 stated: "The spirit of Masonry is the spirit of Judaism in its most fundamental beliefs."
5. In 1930, Freiherr Von Stolzinger wrote: "It is therefore perfectly understandable that Judaism early turned towards Freemasonry, and that, thanks to its remarkable powers of adaption, it became an increasing influence within it. One is hardly mistaken in affirming that to-day the greater number of the Lodges are subject to Jewish influence, and that they form the spiritual storm-troops of Judaism."

In the book "Dope, Inc." by Kalimtgis, Goldman and Steinberg, it is stated that B'nai B'rith was a spinoff of the Order of Zion, and was organized to act as a "covert intelligence front" for the House of Rothschild. B'nai B'rith (Sons of the Covenant) was formed in 1843. It is Jewish Freemasonry, and its Lodges can only be entered by Jews. According to Brother Vincent De Paul in his book "Our Lady Vs. Anti-Christ," the only way a non-Jew can enter is by taking the third degree of the ultra-secret Palladian Rite. It is stated by some that this Rite involves human sacrifice.

In 1874, control of the Scottish Rite Lodges by B'nai B'rith was recognized when Albert Pike (Sovereign Pontiff of Universal Freemasonry, Vice-Regent of Lucifer, and Chief Judicial Officer of the Ku Klux Klan) signed a pact with Armand Levy. Writing in 1933, Lady Queenborough states: "There is little doubt now that B'nai B'rith seems to be the supreme body, shaping and directing, for the attainment of its own ends, the policies, whatever they may be, of all Freemasonry beginning with the Grand Lodge of England, the Grand Orient and Scottish Rites, and ending in the O.T.O. which is Illuminism under another name." (Lady Queenborough's real name was Edith Miller. She was murdered for writing about these secrets.)

Writing in 1928, Leon DePoncins said: "According to well-informed sources, there is in the B'nai B'rith a super-position of secret societies ending in a single governing power. Above the B'nai B'rith are the B'nai Moshe, then the B'nai Zion, and finally the hidden centre of supreme command."

It is reasonably safe to assume that what DePoncins calls B'nai Zion is identical with what the authors of "Dope, Inc." refer to as the Order of Zion, since both are stated to be above B'nai B'rith. What we are now interested in is "the hidden centre of supreme command." This centre was never revealed until 1974, when Rabbi Marvin Antelman wrote a book titled "To Eliminate The Opiate." The book deals with a Jewish secret society called the Frankists, which we shall cover in more detail in the future.

Founded in 1755 by a Cabalist named Jacob Frank, the Frankists played an important role in the French Revolution, while existing as a secret clique within Adam Weishaupt's Illuminati. Even though such Cabalistic Orders had always directed the secret societies, it was ultimately the Frankists with their particular Cabalistic aberrations — which captured total control.

Today, the Frankists no longer go under that name, but instead, call themselves "The Cult of the All-seeing Eye." The reader must realize that the all-seeing eye floats above the pyramid. Thus, in assuming the title "Cult of the All-Seeing Eye," the Frankist elite acknowledge that they reside at the apex of the pyramid — and are therefore the secret governing directorate of all secret societies. The "Cult" is interested in the destruction of all religions including exoteric Judaism, i.e. the Torah.

Any command for a Masonic assassination must therefore, in all likelihood, originate in the Cult of the All-Seeing Eye, and then filter down through the Order of Zion and B'nai B'rith before reaching the Masonic Orders. With this in mind, we can now turn our attention to a few more cases of Masonic murder.

It has always been the goal of the secret societies to take over the Catholic Church, and then to use its framework to form a one-world super-church. In 1819, the following instructions were given to agents of the Carbonari: "The Pope will never come to the secret societies. It is therefore, the obligation the secret societies to take the first step towards the Church with the aim to conquer both..." The instructions also stated: "Within one century the bishops and clerics will believe that they march behind the banner of the Keys of Peter, but in reality they will follow our flag."

As was pointed out in Issue #1, the Carbonari had direct continuity with Adam Weishaupt's Illuminati. At various times, the Carbonari included in its membership such names as Louis Napoleon, Madame Blavatsky, John Wilkes Booth, and Guiseppe Mazzini, founder of the Mafia. Transplanted into the U.S. after being financed in Europe by the House of Rothschild, the Mafia used the Maltese Cross — symbol of the Knights of Malta — as their emblem. The Mafia joined forces with General Albert Pike's Ku Klux Klan to wage war against the Reconstruction governments following the Civil War. The KKK had emerged from out of the Knights of the Golden Circle — a Masonic secret society with heavy Jesuit influence. The Golden Circle had also used the Maltese Cross as their symbol. The purpose of the Klan-Mafia violence was to create sufficient terror so as to justify increased control from the Carpet-bagger-ridden Reconstruction governments. The role of the Arkansas Klan, as led by General Pike, should not be confused with role of the Klan, as led by General Nathan Bedford Forrest.)

Writing in around 1958, William Guy Carr said: "I have many letters from priests who have lived in Rome, and studied in the Vatican. They give a wealth of evidence to prove that the Holy Father (John XXIII) is little better than a prisoner within the Vatican...Only once, in recent years, has the constant surveillance maintained over the Pope been relaxed. That was when his Holiness was thought to be at death's door. We are told he had sunk so low that only a modern miracle could have given him the strength to summon an official he knew he could trust. He ordered the official to send out an appeal and ask all Roman Catholics 'To pray for the silent Church'."

If research by Theodore Kolberg of Germany, and by Bonaventur Meyer of Switzerland, is correct, then the Masons pulled off the ultimate coup during the 1970's. These researchers, along with others, reported that an imposter Pope — a look-alike double — had been installed as Pope replacing Pope Paul VI.

The following differences between Paul VI, and the Imposter were pointed out:

1. The ear lobes are pointed on some photos of Paul

VI, but squared off on others.

2. Paul VI had a long, straight nose. The Imposter had a short, round nose.

3. Paul VI was near-sighted, and used glasses only for distance viewing. The Imposter used glasses for reading.

4. Paul VI prohibited women at the altar. Later, when the Imposter took over, it was allowed.

5. Paul VI condemned divorce. When the Imposter took over, it was permitted.

6. Paul VI forbade Communion in the hand. Imposter allowed it. (The move to allow Communion in the hand was applauded by Satanists throughout the world. This enabled Satanists to gain easy access to the Host. They could now enter a Catholic Church, receive the host in their hand, and then carry it away to be used in the Black Mass.)

In 1975, an electronic frequency analysis was made of the Pope's voice as it was heard over radio on September 19, 1975. This was compared to the Pope's voice as it been heard over radio on Easter Sunday of 1975. The analysis proved that the voice heard on September 19th, was not the same voice which had spoken at Easter.

The architects of this plot, which had replaced Paul VI with a double, were Cardinal Villot, Archbishop Casaroli, and Archbishop Benelli. Villot was initiated into Freemasonry on August 6, 1966. Casaroli was initiated into Freemasonry on September 28, 1957. Benelli, while not being a Mason, was a Communist.

The year that this usurpation of the Papal Throne commenced is believed to have been 1972. After September 19, 1975, only the Imposter was allowed to be heard over radio. Paul VI was only rarely allowed to appear in public, and at private receptions, unless he was accompanied by a Masonic spy. His private chambers were bugged, allowing Villot to know the contents of every discussion. He was subjugated via injection, and by the drugging of his Sacramental wine.

With Paul VI under control, the Masons were able to take over all important positions. Cardinal Villot had been Paul VI's Secretary of State since 1969. This is the most important position in the Vatican other than the Papacy. Villot's assistant was Benelli, who was elevated to Cardinal by the Imposter in 1977. Villot was also head of the Sacred Congregation For The Clergy. This allowed him administration of the Church's temporal goods. As an extra touch, Casaroli selected Masons to act as envoys and set up fronts in other countries. One such group was the National Council of Catholic Bishops in the U.S.

This Masonic infiltration did not go completely unnoticed. In 1976, Cardinal Danielou of France announced that he would publish a list of the names of Masons who had risen to important positions within the Church. Four days after his announcement, he was found murdered in the apartment of a prostitute. The 67 year old Cardinal was carried to her apartment in an attempt to disgrace him, and thus discredit his Masonic research. He was murdered by Masons for revealing Masonic secrets, just as was Captain William Morgan in 1826, and Diana Vaughan in 1897. (Diana Vaughan, before her defection from Masonry, had been the High Priestess of Lucifer as well as the right arm of General Albert Pike.)

By 1978 the Imposter had grown tired of his role to which he had been blackmailed into by the secret societies. He was killed via injection. His cause of death was announced as a heart attack. He was buried, the world believing it was Paul VI. (Some assert that the real Pope Paul was still alive at that time.)

On August 26, 1978, Cardinal Albino Luciani was elevated to the Papal Throne, taking the name Pope John Paul I. Writing in his book "The Shepherds Are Lost," Cyril Marystone states the election of Luciani was engineered by Benelli "because he knew that John Paul I would be liquidated shortly — before he had the chance to pass any important legislation. Who would then be the most likely one to be elected to succeed John Paul I but Benelli himself?" According to Marystone, the Communist newspaper "Paesa Sera" joined with Benelli in the consideration of Luciani as a viable Papal candidate. They were among the few who did. (As was previously noted, Benelli, though not a Mason, was a Communist. That Masonry and Communism are twins of the World Revolution, is probably too well known by conspiracy researchers to go into at this time.)

On September 29, 1978, Pope John Paul I was found dead. His Pontificate had lasted for only 33 days. (This would be 33 full days, not counting the day of his election — 8/26/78. His death was discovered at 4 A.M. on September 29, 1978. Thus, the last five days of August plus the first 28 days of September adds up to 33.) Of course, the Masons in the Vatican could have killed him at any time during his reign, but as a signal to the Masons of the world, they waited for 33 days to elapse.

The dead Pope's body was first discovered by sister Vincenza when she went to deliver a breakfast tray. She informed John Magee, the Pope's private secretary, who then contacted Cardinal Villot, the Mason. According to Gordon Thomas and Max Morgan-Witts, in their book "Pontiff," Villot then made decisions which were to have a devastating effect. Villot decreed that Vincenza's involvement was to be kept secret. She and the other nuns of the household were to be returned immediately to the mother house of their order. There, they were to remain for the rest of their lives.

Villot's decision concerning Vincenza and the others, seems to border on the irrational. Why was he so interested in excising her from the picture? It may have had something to do with what John Paul I was reading at the time of his death. When Vincenza found the body of the Pope, he was holding a file whose contents were scattered across the bed and onto the floor. These papers were written by John Paul, and were an attack upon the Jesuit order. That the Jesuits work with the Masons, both serving the interests of Zionism has already been noted. That the Pope was reading this attack upon the Jesuits, was covered up by Villot, who issued a statement that John Paul had been reading "Imitation Of Christ."

John Paul I had to be eliminated because as Ursula Oxfort pointed out in Christian Counter-Revolution (Bulletin 22): "...Pope Luciani's surprise rightist reign posed a threat to the very existence of the well-entrenched modernist curia under the then secretary of state, Cardinal Jean Villot...Before John Paul I could start to clean house and change them, they evidently decided to change Popes." (Bonaventur Meyer believes that John Paul I was eliminated because he learned the truth about the Imposter.)

Oxfort further writes: "Pope Luciani, a priest with a preconiliar mentality' had become a menace to the Vatican 2 reform." She then quotes Brother B. Bonnet Eymard as saying: "On 28th September, John Paul I had begun to pass from words to deeds. He wanted to appoint good bishops from among good priests to several vacant dioceses including the patriachate of Venice, but he came up against the conflicting will of Cardinal Baggio, among others. (Editor: Cardinal Baggio was initiated into Freemasonry on 8/14/57.) The dislike of a curia sure of its implacable strength and supported by hidden powers showed its hand."

After Luciani's death, many suspected foul play, and tried to get the Vatican to perform an autopsy. But, all power resided in the trio of Villot, Casaroli, and Benelli. "The Vatican" said that charges of foul play were "irresponsible." The allegation that Pope Luciani had died of a heart attack was not satisfactory to many. Luciani's niece stated: "In my family almost no one believes it was a heart attack that killed my uncle. He never had heart trouble or any illness of that kind." And it must be remembered that when the Pope's body was found, his eyes were bulging from their sockets, and the veins of his neck were popping out. His face was so terribly distorted that not even the masseurs were able to restore it to normalcy until after several hours of work.

Oxfort writes: "While leading Italian newspapers were crying 'foul play' and persistently demanded an autopsy on the beloved Luciani, the viewing of the newly-dead pontiff obviously posed a problem to the curia. For the horribly distorted face of the once smiling pontiff returned during the great mourning. I observed that the viewing was abruptly called off at 6 P.M. one evening. The following day the body of John Paul I was carried on the shoulders of men of the Swiss Guard, high enough so that his face could not be seen."

If Pope Luciani was a threat to the reform of Vatican 2, then he was a threat to the Zionist masterminds of that council. Writing in The Spotlight, Joseph Kamp informed us that Vatican 2 was not the child of the popes at Rome, but of the Anti-Defamation League and the American Jewish Committee in New York. Both the ADL and the AJC had their agents attend every session of Vatican 2 where Christianity was being replaced with pantheism and Marxism.

The key commission of Vatican 2 was the Secretariat of Christian Unity headed by Cardinal Bea — a Jesuit and a Jew whose real name was Behar. According to Brother Vincent DePaul, Bea was also a Grand Master in Masonry, a position which cannot be attained without the performance of human sacrifice. Ex-Jesuit Albert Rivera says that it was Cardinal Bea who told him that the Jesuits were instrumental in forming the Communist Party. (However, Rivera does not realize for whom the Jesuits are really working.) During the Vatican 2 Council meeting, Bea flew back and forth from Rome to New York where he kept important Zionist leaders informed of developments.

On September 13, 1982, a car plunged off a cliff in France killing Princess Grace of Monaco. In an article in the National Examiner, reporter Cliff Lindecker, after a talk with conspiracy theorist Mae Brussel, reported that the former movie star "was murdered because she had learned dangerous secrets tied to the international banking scandal sweeping the Vatican..."

The article lists a few names under the heading "Accused." Heading the list is Archbishop Paul Marcinkus who became involved in the scandal-ridden Ambrosiano Bank affair. What is not mentioned is that Marcinkus is a Freemason, having been received into the Lodge on August 21, 1967. Closely associated with Marcinkus is the imprisoned financier Michael Sindona, a member of the outlawed P2 Masonic Lodge. According to Sindona, Marcinkus became involved in the Ambrosiano Bank affair because he wanted to become cardinal.

Five investigators who investigated the banking scandal died under mysterious circumstances, as has the president of the Ambrosiano Bank, Roberto Calvi. On June 18, 1982, Calvi was found hanging from a scaffolding under the Blackfriars Bridge in London. It is believed that Calvi was killed because he was about to reveal the connection of the English Grand Lodge (The Mother Lodge of Masonry) to the P2 Lodge in Italy. The P2 Lodge holds a cross-membership with Bohemian Grove, the Trilateral Commission, and the Club of Rome.

Implicated in the death of Calvi is the Duke of Kent (Grand Master of the Scottish Rite), the Quatuor Coronati Research Lodge, and the Swiss Alpine Grand Lodge. The latter was instrumental back in 1915 for laying much of the groundwork which would result in forming the League of Nations — that early attempt at one-world government.

Since the murder of Calvi took place at the Blackfriars Bridge, the Blackfriars would also be suspect. The Blackfriars are the largest and most powerful monastic order within the Church of England. Their influence and function is akin to that of the Jesuits within the Roman Church. They are considered an asset to factions of British Intelligence, and are of course patched into the Scottish Rite.

Getting back to Archbishop Marcinkus, it must be mentioned that he also played a role in another important affair. Marcinkus was the interpreter and bodyguard for the Imposter Pope. Paul VI spoke English and needed no interpreter, but the Imposter spoke neither English nor Latin. When the Imposter spoke on radio, a voice could be heard coaching him from the background. It is believed that this voice belonged to Marcinkus or to Cardinal Villot.

The article in the Examiner stated that Princess Grace was murdered because she found out about the banking scandal. However, with the mention of Marcinkus, another possibility develops. She may have found out about the Imposter Pope — and about what really happened to Paul VI. In any case, the finger must be pointed at Masonry. Whatever Grace did learn was deemed harmful to Masonry, and perhaps even to the “hidden command.” If she learned about the banking scandal, it would prove harmful to Masonry because the Vatican banking scandal was really a Masonic banking scandal!!!

The reader may have noticed that Princess Grace was killed on the 13th of September. We previously mentioned that 13 is the number of members in a Witchcraft coven. We must now ascertain if there is any connection between Freemasonry and Witchcraft. According to the newspaper New Solidarity: “Wicca, the international witchcraft cult, is one of the highest branches of Freemasonry.” It is said that Prince Charles of England, and Queen Juliana of Holland are Wicca initiates, as are top British Masons. The British Order of the Garter is secretly the Wicca Cult of Diana. The head-quarters of the Wicca Cult is on Britain's Isle of Man. With the English Grand Lodge being Masonry's Mother Lodge, it would appear that the British Isles are a hotbed of secret society intrigue.

Not only is Masonry connected to Witchcraft, but it is also connected to Satanism. Anton Lavey, founder of the Church of Satan in San Francisco, stated in his book “The Satanic Rituals” that: “Satanic ritual is a blend of Gnostic, Cabbalistic, Hermetic, and Masonic elements...” Lavey confirms that there are several manifestations of Satanism in Masonic ritual such as the goat, the coffin, and the deaths-head. Lavey's Church performs a ritual called the Ceremony of the Stifling Air — a rite originally performed by the Knights Templar.

In 1892, a physician writing under the name of Dr. Bataille, startled the world when he described the Black Mass as he had attended it from Paris to Hong Kong. Dr. Bataille maintained that the Black Mass — where human sacrifice is frequently performed — is the very soul of Masonic super-rites as developed by Moses Holbrook and Albert Pike. Based on Cabalistic doctrine, Pike introduced the Adonaicide Mass (God-Killing) into the third degree of the New Palladian Rite (the old Palladian rite having been a ceremony of the Knights Templar).

In his booklet “The Conspiracy,” William Guy Carr describes the Adonaicide Rites as follows: “The blood of the victim is passed around and sipped by those present, then parts of the flesh are eaten...The celebrant also desecrates and defiles a Host...All Adonaicide Masses terminate in an orgy of eating, drinking and sexual indulgence.” Carr then notes that at the time of his writing (1958), police in Chicago were investigating three ritual murders which may have been connected to the Black Mass.

While Pike officiated at these rites in Charleston, they were also going on all around the world. In May of 1895, a French magazine published a story about the discovery of a Temple of Satan in Rome. The Temple was on property which had been rented by Freemasons. A room was found within the Temple which contained “a great piece of tapestry upon which was the figure of Satan at whose feet was an altar. Here and there were arranged triangles, squares and other symbolic signs of the sect, as well as books and Masonic rituals. All around stood gilt chairs. Each of these, in the moulding which capped its back, had a glass eye, the interior of which was lighted by electricity, while in the middle of the temple stood a curious throne, that of the Great Satanic Pontiff.” (From “La Croix du Dauphine” as quoted by Solange Hertz in "Is The Black Mass Valid.")

The attempted assassination of Pope John Paul II also took place on the thirteenth of the month — May 13, 1981. The P2 Masonic Lodge has been implicated. After the assassination attempt, the Vatican forced Prime Minister Forlani to release a list of P2 members. The newsletter, "The Word on Government" stated: "Prime Minister Forlani resisted the release of the P2 list for almost two months until according to some sources, the Vatican forced the issue. This happened immediately after the attempt on the life of Pope John Paul II. Historically, the Illuminati has been an arch enemy of the Church. Perhaps that is why the Vatican Secretary of State spoke of the assassination attempt as a 'resurrection of old sacrileges' and implied that it was the product of a conspiracy. Four months later on September 24, 1981, an Italian court concluded that the would-be assassin 'was only the visible point of a conspiracy which, though impossible to define, was widespread and menacing and devised by shadowy forces...' "

These "shadowy forces" spanned both left and right of the political spectrum. Mehmet Ali Agca appears to be linked to the Turkish Gray Wolves — right-wing paramilitary terrorists responsible for over 700 murders during the last eleven years. Agca's prison break on November 25, 1979 was aided by two Gray Wolves. According to longtime foreign correspondent Claire Sterling, these two Wolves "were on the payroll of the Turkish Mafia in Bulgaria." This is extremely interesting, for as Sterling discovered, the Turkish Mafia is under the direction of the Bulgarian Secret Service. In her book "The Time of the Assassins", Sterling reveals the Bulgarian connection to the attempt on the Pope's life. But, isn't it a bit strange to have right-wing Gray Wolves involved with one of the most orthodox Communist regimes in Europe.

As was pointed out earlier, the secret service of all nations is run by the Scottish Rite, which in turn is run by B'nai B'rith. Based on some of the material already presented, a possible scenario for the attempt upon John Paul II, could have went something like this: The command to kill would originate with the Frankist elite (Cult of the All-Seeing Eye). The command would then filter down through B'nai B'rith, and then reach the Scottish Rite command center. From there it would reach the Soviet KGB, who would transmit it to the Bulgarian Secret Service. Finally, the order would hit the Turkish Mafia-Gray Wolf combine, and involve both leftist and rightist elements. The actual plotters of the crime (at the apex of the pyramid) would be so far removed from those who carried out the actual assassination attempt (at the bottom of the pyramid) so as to never be discovered.

This will be additional observations to material previously presented. The place to start at is the Temple of SOL-OM-ON. As we demonstrated in Issue #1, the Temple of Solomon (SOL-OM-ON) is the temple of Sirius. We had pointed out that Sol is the Latin word for sun, Om is the Sankrit word for sun, and ON is the Egyptian word for sun. We then noted that occult tradition teaches that our sun is a reflection of a greater sun — namely Sirius. Now, if the Temple of SOL-OM-ON is the Temple of Sirius, then the Seal of Solomon (SOL-OM-ON) is the Seal of Sirius. We are referring to that all-important symbol of black magic known as the hexagram, or the six-pointed star. More correctly, according to Sayed Idries Shah in the book "The Secret Lore of Magic," this symbol should be referred to as the Double Seal of Solomon — a six-pointed star enclosed in a circle (the Seal of Solomon being a five-pointed star or pentagram). But, there are many who refer to the six-pointed star as Solomon's Seal.

Now, if the all-seeing eye is a symbol of Sirius's Earth allies, then the sixpointed star is a symbol of those same allies. Interestingly enough, both these symbols are on the reverse side of the dollar bill.

In an article in Pursuit Magazine (First Quarter, 1982) dealing with the planetary grid, John T. Sinkiewicz points out that there are six large pyramids of the Giza variety located at specific points on the world power grid. He notes that if you were to draw lines connecting each of these points, you would come up with the six-pointed star. It appears that our planet is ornamented with this symbol. Is it to act as a sigil (a sign in astrology used to exercise occult power) to attract the Old Ones? In ceremonies of black magic, the six-pointed star must always be present for the conjuration of a demon. It makes one feel as if our planet is decorated so as to receive an influx of these evil powers.

Dr. Joseph L. Intelisano, also writing in Pursuit (Third Quarter, 1982), in an article titled "A Treatise on Anti-Gravity and Light," says that the pyramids, through light-manipulation and resonance (intensification and prolongation of a tone via sympathetic vibration), were capable of opening portals into other dimensions. The California philosopher, Manly P. Hall, voiced a similar view. In his book "The Phoenix," Hall said that the Great Pyramid was understood by initiates to act as a gateway to invisible worlds. Since we have talked much about traversing dimensional planes, it is interesting to find a pyramid connection to such travel.

And what about that pyramid, possibly of Atlantean origin, which is supposed to lie at the bottom of the Bermuda Triangle? According to Stan Deyo in "The Cosmic Conspiracy," the U.S. government has a secret defence and space research facility in Australia. Known as Pine Gap, this base, since its establishment in 1966, has been conducting experiments with several types of futuristic weaponry. Pine Gap has a bore antenna which can produce waves of standing energy throughout the Earth. The antipode of the Pine Gap transmitter is in the Bermuda Triangle!!! Is the Pine Gap transmitter triggering the pyramid in the Triangle, and allowing the opening of an extra-dimensional portal through which people, planes, and ships are being lost? If yes, is it being done deliberately?

The Sirius-Witchcraft Connection

Our next collection of additional material concerns Isis and Sirius. As we noted several times in the past, Isis is a symbol of Sirius — and Sirius is a symbol of extra-cosmic forces. Isis was known throughout the ancient world under many different names. To the Babylonians, she was known as Ishtar; to the Canaanites as Ashtoreth; to the Greeks and Romans as Astarte. She was also known as Shakti and Cybele. In Witchcraft, she is known as Circe, Hecate, Nocticula, and Diana. If Diana is the alter-ego of Isis, then Diana is also a symbol of Sirius. Thus, in paying homage to Diana, homage is really being paid to the dog-star Sirius.

This is, of course, the Great Mother doctrine of paganism. The Old Ones entered our Universe through the Sirius-portal — and so Sirius is considered to have given birth. Or to put it another way, the Universe is the pantheistic god — and the Sirius-portal is its womb.

In our first issue, we mentioned that Sirius was located in the constellation of Orion. Yet, if you were to check any star map, you would find that it is located in Canis Major. In his book "Outside The Circles of Time," Kenneth Grant quotes Andrew Tomas (in Shambhala: Oasis of Light) as putting Sirius in Orion. Are these learned gentlemen wrong? Although, astronomically speaking, Sirius is in Canis Major, occult tradition places it in Orion. We shall now attempt to explain why.

To understand this we will have to journey to ancient Babylon during the time of Nimrod and his wife, Semiramis. These two established what we call the "ancient mystery religions." These religions were fertility cults based on the doctrine of pantheism. The god of such cults was not a personal deity, but rather a creative, generative principle diffused throughout the Universe. Or as mentioned above, the Universe is God.

Nimrod was not only the husband of Semiramis, but was also her son. Nimrod had married his own mother!!! After his death at the hands of Shem (one of the sons of Noah), Semiramis set her son-husband up as a god, and herself as a goddess. They were worshipped under different names throughout the ancient world. In Egypt, they became known as Isis and Osiris.

While Isis (Semiramis) was a symbol of Sirius, Osiris (Nimrod) became a symbol of Orion. Thus, Orion and Sirius were considered as husband and wife — and considered as one through sexual union. This is more understandable when we remember that the religion started by Nimrod was a fertility cult based on the worship of generative forces. To the ancients, Orion was a symbol of the phallus, while Sirius (which gave birth) was a symbol of the cteis.

Orion and the Anti-Christ

In his book "The Rebirth of Pan," Jim Brandon tells of a star-lore expert named Richard Hinkly Allen. According to Allen in earlier times, Orion was known as "the Cock's Foot" or the "Foot-turning Wanderer." The symbol for Orion was the cock's foot, or as it later came to be called the crow's foot or witch's foot. This witch's foot became the popular peace symbol of the 1960's — the inverted broken cross.

According to the June 4, 1970 edition of The News American: "The crowfooted, broken-inverted cross has been described as the sign of the anti-Christ. It is a Satanic emblem of medieval times used to actually brand Jews on the arm or forehead to indicate they were not true believers.

"This emblem was also used as a sign of the devil and was painted over doors of those who were to be put to death. In later times it was imprinted on tombstones to indicate the burial ground of evil spirits or those believed to be witches.

As stated above, the inverted cross was a symbol of the Anti-Christ. In Issue #2, we speculated concerning the possibility of the Anti-Christ being an inter-dimensional traveller (this would make him an MIB). In our first issue, we established the Sirius-Shambhala connection — both referred to as the Great White Lodge. We pointed out that Buddhist priests told a writer named Steven Jenkins (author of "The Undiscovered Country") that Shambhala was located in the constellation of Orion. Now, we discover that a symbol of the Anti-Christ is associated with Orion — and we also know that the "Christ" of the New Age Movement is associated with Shambhala.

Further, Nimrod (Orion-Osiris) is considered by many as a precursor to Anti-Christ — and the cross in its pre-Christian aspects was a symbol of intersecting dimensional planes!!!

Lets make a few more observations concerning Orion before going any further. A reader from Tennessee, well versed in UFOlogy (who will have an MIB article in a future issue), has told your editor that a Swedish ufologist wrote him about a lady in Sweden "who says she is a member of an old occult fraternity which involves scientists all over the world." They call themselves "The Knights of Orion" — and claim to "have been in contact with UFO's for several hundred years." We have no other information on these Knights of Orion. The term "Knights" is used often in secret societies tied to Freemasonry. That they are scientists could mean that there is a connection with Rosicrucianism.

The same reader tells of an Australian contactee who "claims to have had an MIBish encounter in 1968, with a tall gent who he learned psychically was an androgyne from Orion." The contactee said that Orion means "Serpent," and that the entity was named Samanah, which means Satan. Having already mentioned that Orion was regarded as a phallic symbol, it is interesting to note that the serpent is also a phallic symbol. It was Nimrod who established serpent-worship in Babylon, where the serpent became a symbol of the Universal Soul, i.e. the pantheistic god.

Sirius - 666

On page 49 of Bullinger's "Number In Scripture," it is stated: "The letter 's' (called Sigma) is used for the number 6. Why this letter and number should be thus associated we cannot tell, except that both are intimately connected with the ancient Egyptian mysteries. The three letters SSS were the symbol of Isis, which is thus connected with 666."

Now, if SSS is a symbol of Isis and of 666 — and if Isis is a symbol of Sirius — then there is also a connection between Sirius and 666. We have now discovered that both Orion and Sirius have connections to the Anti-Christ (Bullinger quote from The Gospel News, Southwest Radio Church.)

The MIB and The Holy Grail

Having presented the Men In Black as human inter-dimensional travellers, we now want to give further verification. (We should mention that not all MIBs are human. There are cases where they at least say they are aliens in human form, and there are even cases where they appear to be mechanical.) In Issue #1 it was explained how the MIB function as emissaries of Sirius-Shambhala. We identified Shambhala as "the nation of the third eye."

In his book "The Spear of Destiny," Trevor Ravenscroft says that the Holy Grail has been described as the "precious stone." He says that the stone was a symbol for the pineal gland beneath the brain. Ravenscroft writes: "The romance of the Grail...was to open and activate this 'pineal eye' to a vision of the hidden secrets of Time..." This reference to the "hidden secrets of Time" could be taken as a reference to other dimensions. O.T.O. Grand Master Kenneth Grant says that the third eye is the "organ" associated with "The Vision" of an "extra dimensional and alien universe." This is the universe that we have designated as the location of Shambhala.

Also notice that according to Ravenscroft, the third eye is a gland which is associated with a "precious stone" — and this stone is the Holy Grail. Shambhala, the nation of the third eye is also the nation of the Holy Grail. The Holy Grail is the alter-ego of the third eye — or as we usually call it, "the all-seeing eye." Thus, the Holy Grail, like the all-seeing eye and the six-pointed star, is a symbol of the Earth allies of Sirius.

This brings us to the legend of the Chintamani Stone. According to Buddhist legend, the Chintamani Stone was brought to Earth by visitors from the stars. Helena Roerich (wife of explorer-mystic Nicholas Roerich), called the Chintamani Stone "the gift of Orion." According to Andrew Tomas in his book "Shambhala: Oasis of Light," the Chintamani Stone surmounts a tower in Shambhala. It glows like a diamond, emitting flashes and pillars of lights in the sky. These flashes can be seen in the Himalayan region — possibly due to the weakness of the space-time fabric in that area.

Legend says that particles of the Chintamani Stone are taken to parts of the world when a "new age" is on the horizon. The particles are said to be able to produce cosmic energies capable of consciousness transformation. Fragments were in the possession of the inhabitants of Atlantis, as well as in the possession of Appolonius of Tyana. It is stated by Tomas that fragments were also taken to Europe to aid in the formation of the League of Nations, which was the spawn of Freemasonry.

The Knights Templar believed that the Holy Grail was fashioned from the Chintamani Stone. Rudolph Steiner believed that the Grail was fashioned from a jewel which fell from the crown of Lucifer. Since Lucifer is another name of the sun-god and since our sun is considered a reflection of Sirius, there is another possible link. According to "The Beacon," the official magazine of the Lucis Trust: "Lucifer, son of the morning is closely related (to the path to Sirius) and hence the large number of human beings who will become disciples in the Sirian Lodge." In the book "The Two Babylons", written by Rev. Alexander Hislop during the 1850's, it is stated that Lucifer is another name for Nimrod. There are connections all over the place, and we have probably missed many of them.

The Holy Grail is also associated with legends that are linked to Glastonbury. The same Buddhists who told Steven Jenkins that Shambhala was located in Orion, also told him that Shambhala was located in Glastonbury. How can Shambhala be in the Himalayas, Orion, and in Glastonbury at the same time? This is only possible when we understand that we are dealing with another dimension — a parallel universe.

Glastonbury is considered by Kenneth Grant to be one of the focal points of power of the Great White Brotherhood. It is the focus of the Western Mystery Tradition, and was at one time the center of Druidism. Glastonbury Abbey, considered as the possible burial place of King Arthur, lies on a ley line with Stonehenge — where the Druids offered human sacrifice. Glastonbury is also the site where Dion Fortune founded the Fraternity of Inner Light, which acted as an outer court to the Golden Dawn.

Raymond Bernard, of Hollow Earth fame, says that during the Middle Ages, Shambhala was referred to as the Isle of Avalon — the site where the Knights of the Roundtable believed that the Holy Grail was hidden. Thus, Bernard offers confirmation that Shambhala is located in Glastonbury.

It is now time to link the Holy Grail to the Philosopher's Stone of Alchemy. In 1937, author Jacques Bergier was visited by a mysterious stranger (of the MIB variety?) The stranger told Bergier that the secret of alchemy was involved with the manipulation of matter and energy for the purpose of producing a force field. This field was to act upon the experimenter and give him "access to the realities which are ordinarily hidden from us by time and space, matter and energy." Bergier was told that the alchemical Philosopher's Stone was not primarily concerned with transmuting base metals into precious metals, but rather with the transmutation of the experimenter.

It is possible that this mysterious stranger, like the MIB, Koot Hoomi, Black Eagle, etc., had his bodily structure altered for the purpose of traversing dimensional planes. He informed Bergier that the human body had to be altered so as to gain access to hidden realities — or as we would say, gain access to other dimensions. This sounds very much like what Trevor Ravenscroft said about the "pineal eye" allowing a vision of the "hidden secrets of Time." And so, the Holy Grail=the precious stone (philosopher's stone)=the pineal eye=the third eye.

ELF Suicide?

New York Post, Monday, February 27, 1984: "A suicide alert and plea for troubled teens to pour out their problems went through the well-to-do suburbs of Westchester (New York-Editor) yesterday in the wake of the fifth teenage suicide in the past month.... The latest victim in the series of teen suicides was a gifted rock musician who hanged himself... Arnold Caputo, the brilliant 19 year old son of a wealthy Westchester lawyer, hanged himself in the attic of his parents stately $250,000 home in Mount Vernon — an act that has baffled everyone who knew him."

As stated above, there have been five suicides in the area during the period of February 4, 1984 to February 25, 1984. The suicide wave began on 2/4/84 when Robert DeLaValliere, 13, was found hanging from a tree in his hometown of Peekskill. Then on 2/14/84, Justin Spoonhour, 14, was found hanging from a tree near his home in neighboring Putnam County. James Pellechi, 18, was found dead of a shotgun blast on 2/16/84. Christopher Ruggiero, 17, was found hanging by a bathrobe sash in his bedroom closet on 2/22/84 — and Caputo was the latest, also by hanging on 2/25/84. Of the five suicides, four were by hanging.

A girl friend of Caputo stated: "He was the one person I never would think would have done it. He was doing amazing in college. And his music was his life...He was more straight than anyone I knew, and never touched drugs..." A neighbor said that he wasn't "moody or withdrawn." (It should be pointed out, however, that the Westchester Director of Mental Health said that Caputo's song "Under The Runes" shows a "dark side of the youth's inner feelings.")

What we want to point out is that depression leading to suicide can be artificially induced by ELF (extreme low frequency) or VLF (very low frequency) electromagnetic waves. Both the U.S. and U.S.S.R. have transmitters capable of such broadcasts. A target population could be made suicidal through such transmissions.

When a human is subjected to rapidly changing electromagnetic fields, various physiological responses can occur. In some cases, genetic damage may take place or tissue damage in the form of burns may result. In other cases, neurological symptoms like paranoia and depression may take place. Such fields could be used to model human behaviour. Lieut. Col. Thomas Bearden, a retired U.S. air defense expert stated: "One frequency makes people get high, gets them excited, while another frequency makes them depressed." (National Enquirer, 9/1/78)

Devil cults stealing sacred relics to help attract members

ANGUISHED PRACTITIONERS of black magic are resorting to the theft of the most holy relics in order to strengthen support for their strange, often vile practices.

By MARK CARLISLE

Followers need the relics in order to restore the waning power of the anti-Christ.

"They believe that dreadful ceremonies in which the artifacts they steal are often desecrated will enable them to resurrect the Beast," Prof.

John Muzanak, an expert on the occult, told the EXAMINER.

"The more holy the relic, the more powerful they believe their black magic will be. So far as they're concerned, absolutely nothing is sacred."

Worried custodians have secretly implemented extra security precautions to prevent the theft of some of the holiest relics in the world, chief among them the famed Shroud of Turin in Italy and the cactus-fiber cloak of Our Lady of Guadalupe in Mexico City.

Their move follows the audacious theft of the Holy Tunic of Christ in Paris.

Desperate thieves broke into a church to seize the garment, kept there since the year 800.

Although its authenticity hasn't been firmly established, the woolen robe definitely dates from the early Christian era.

It has on it what experts have determined are traces of blood, believed by some to be that of Christ.

"The ease with which they escaped with this most holy of relics obviously has given concern to the keepers of other religious artifacts and steps have been taken to prevent other thefts.

"Black magic practitioners, however, are desperate people, and they'll stop at nothing to carry out their sacrilegious acts," says Muzanak.

WEEKLY WORLD NEWS 6/8/82

I watched as they sacrificed a baby!

Dave Austen has just broken his witch's vow of secrecy to admit he took part in a horrifying human sacrifice ceremony — in which a crying baby's heart was carved out and burned while Satanists drank a toast with the baby's blood.

Austen, a 31-year-old member of the Church of Satan, said he was driven to tell his story to The NEWS because he could not live with the secret memory of the recent murderous night.

He said he was blindfolded and driven from his home to the site of the dark sacrifice in a deserted wooded area near Exeter, England.

"We were told to strip and put on dark robes which had cowls like a monk's outfit," Austen said. "Then we were led up an uphill dirt track. Before the ceremony started we were given cakes and red wine. The wine must have been laced with something because it helped to release my inhibitions.

"The high priest was wearing stag's horns and a mask which looked as if it had been made of leaves," he said. "The high priestess walked on with an open gown and you could see her naked body beneath it. Her face was painted in gold. They used a piece of rock for an altar and had a small fire burning."

Austen said the wine goblets were passed among the Satanists again before the sacrifice began.

"Everyone was getting into the sort of frame of mind where they would accept anything that happened," he said. "A girl of about 18 appeared wearing a white shroud and carrying a bundle in her arms. She laid the baby on the slab and then the high priest made a ritual incision across the child's throat and through its chest bone."

Austen said blood spewed from the dying baby's body as the witches looked on in silence.

"Blood was collected and passed around," he said. "When the high priest stepped away from the altar he took something small from the child and I was told it was the heart. The stone was awash with blood and the high priestess gathered some drops in a bowl. They roasted the heart over a fire and reduced it to cinders. It's a common practice."

He said the young mother was led away from the altar before members of the cult drank a bloody toast to the devil.

"The ashes from the heart were put into some wine, mixed with blood and then passed around for everyone to take a sip," Austen said. "The whole ceremony lasted only an hour. When we were led back to the car the guide told us the child's body would be put in some quicklime to disintegrate and no trace would be found. I was told that the coven looks after destitute girls. When a girl is pregnant they take away the baby after birth. As no one registers the birth, the police don't know anyone is missing."
